

MILLFIELD
MUSIC SCHOOL

Millfield
Street, Somerset, BA16 0YD, UK
Tel: +44 (0) 1458 442291

millfieldschool.com

Housed in a stunning purpose-built department, the Music School at Millfield is one of the largest in the UK with world-class facilities. This, combined with outstanding teaching staff, provides exceptional specialist provision for our young musicians both in practical music making and in the classroom.

Millfield Music School

Matthew Cook
Director of Music

Our goal is to inspire and facilitate the greatest creative minds of the future as part of a specialist programme that is tailored specifically to each child's musical aspiration. With bespoke pathways for all standards, styles and abilities, you can be confident that Millfield Music School will meet the musical needs of your child.

With outstanding opportunities, accessible to all, the highest levels of musical achievement can be attained in an inspirational British boarding environment, that also allows each pupil to engage in a diverse school programme to succeed in the areas of academia, sport and co-curricular.

State of the art facilities include:

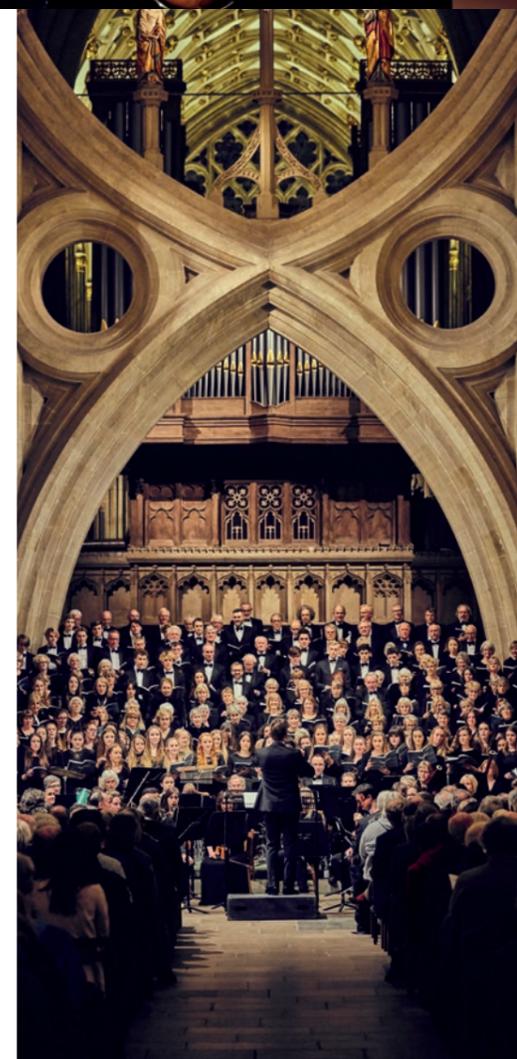

- 350 seat Concert Hall and Recital Foyer
- Over 30 dedicated teaching and practice rooms
- Two professional standard recording studios
- Outstanding collection of instruments, including a Steinway Model D Concert Grand
- Specialist percussion room
- Four fully integrated Mac teaching suites

Millfield Music School benefits from a vibrant and extensive concert calendar, featuring over 50 events each year with performances ranging from solo recitals to large-scale ensemble concerts, chamber music concerts to contemporary evenings, musicals and a biennial Concerto Concert.

Musicians can also take advantage of our high profile external performance calendar, including participation in renowned global music festivals and competitions, worldwide concert tours, and regular performances at Wells Cathedral. Millfield also hosts an International Concert Series and a programme of professional Masterclasses, featuring ensembles such as The King's Singers, Tenebrae and BBC Big Band, and soloists including Pascal Rogé, Jennifer Pike and Joseph Moog.

The Music School employs 40 outstanding members of staff, including numerous active professionals, from world-renowned chamber ensembles and orchestras, to opera singers, conservatoire professors and ABRSM and Trinity examiners. The specialist staff lead a diverse and dynamic ensemble programme, with over 40 ensembles rehearsing weekly, including a significant programme of Chamber Music.

We are exceptionally proud of our musicians' achievements in this wonderful arena. Many have secured places at major conservatoires and with national orchestras, choirs and musical theatre companies, including the National Youth Orchestra and National Youth Choir, and a number go on to read Music at university. Recent pupils have continued their musical education, often with scholarships, at highly-prestigious institutions such as Curtis Institute, Royal College of Music, Royal Academy of Music, Royal Northern College of Music, University of Oxford and the University of Cambridge. Our alumni have gone on to work in the music industry, as composers, performers and recording artists.

Matthew Cook, Director of Music